

James Blonde

James Blonde the person operating behind the scenes for Sweat Lodge artists is not only a person with a sense of music but has been a musician himself for quite some time. He started making music in the 80's with wave bands in Tel Aviv and moved to Los Angeles as lead singer and guitar player for Grunge bands. In the end of the glam days of LA he played notorious clubs such as ..Whisky A Go Go.. and ..Roxy.. on the sunset Strip.

During a visit to Tel Aviv for the millennium party and seeing what the great club scene of Tel Aviv had to offer those days, he turned onto electronic music and started to produce infamous after party's which led to managing of Tel Aviv's Vox club. At this time he got to know Chaim who was resident DJ at the club. Soon after they started to produce together and founded their project "James Blonde Experience".

After concentrating on establishing Sweat Lodge Agency in the Berlin Techno scene, and the releases on MBF, James is set to debut his live show in 2009 with new singles on the way on his self imprint Konsequenz.
